EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Peter Zular Reg # 48196 on 3/27/05.

The application has been amended as follows:

Page 18, in lines 15 and 16, delete "are recited in the other subclaims." and insert -- are provided by a telecommunication systems wherein the synchronism between the first base stations and the first mobile parts exists in the idle locked mode of the first mobile parts. The synchronism between the first base stations and the first mobile parts may exist in the active locked mode of the first mobile parts. In one embodiment, the telecommunication systems are TDMA-based telecommunication systems. The first base stations are respectively asynchronous relative to the second base station or stations in view of the bit, time slot and/or time frame synchronism. One feature provides that the part of the first base stations regularly sends the first messages with the first information. The part of the first base stations may automatically send the first messages with the first information. According to the invention, the part of the first base stations is initiated by the network side to send the first messages with the first information. In particular, the first mobile parts interrupt the search for a predetermined time span after they have searched for the second base stations. Specifically, the first mobile parts comprise time counters for acquiring the time span. Preferably, the first base stations load the time counters of the first mobile parts with the predetermined time span as start value on the basis of the wireless transmission of the messages. The first base stations comprise memories wherein the time spans are stored. The time span can be delivered to the first base stations from the network side. In the telecommunication systems, the time span is a multiple of the time slot or time frame. The first mobile parts repeat the search procedures at regular time intervals given unsuccessful attempts to seek the second base stations. The mobile location-specific reception criteria are the downward transgression of mobile part location-specific reception field strength thresholds. The mobile part location-specific reception field strength thresholds and threshold for initiation of inter-cell handover are of the same size.--;
